360 ORBITAL (Functional Rehab and Fitness Device)

A new technology, The Orbital 360, represents a shift from linear, vector-based rehab systems to a more functional form. It provides a constant, consistent, friction-based, adjustable, directionally responsive resistance technology through the 3 dimensional planes. It provides both linear and resistive rotational forces that engage the entire kinetic chain of the user. By design, this stimulates more of the specific neuromusculoskeletal patterns that the body moves through, naturally, as in daily activities or even sports-specific movements. U.S. Chiropractic Directory Offers a New level of Access to the Chiropractic Profession, for the Public

The U.S. Chiropractic Directory and its founders, world leaders in chiropractic education and innovators' in chiropractic and communication released to the public an aggressive strategy offering an unprecedented level of access to the chiropractic profession on January 1, 2010.

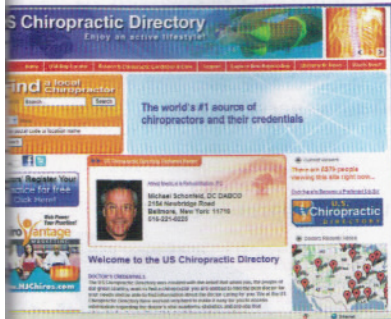

Since the announcement, the US Chiropractic Directory has become the #1 chiropractic entity on Facebook and Twitter leading the way for the future in bringing a positive chiropractic message daily to people worldwide.

In anticipation of an ever changing health-care environment and breakthroughs in research, the U.S. Chiropractic Directory has made a commitment to only offer to the public peer reviewed or evidenced based research based articles in explaining the efficacy of chiropractic care. According to Dr. Mark Studin, the clinical advisor of the US Chiropractic Directory, "No longer will rhetoric rule the day in explaining chiropractic. There is too much research in the scientific community giving evidence that what we do works and the public is entitled to that information."

"We want to eradicate illness and ease suffering; therefore a patient needs to pick the best doctor for their condition, not someone who is simply the closest" adds Dr. Studin. We make it very easy for the public to get doctor's credentials that will allow the patient to make the best choice for their specific problems; not all chiropractors are alike in training and experience. The public now has that choice.
